BECOME AN EXTENSION MASTER FOOD VOLUNTEER

K-State Research and Extension is excited to offer a once again a program for people who love to cook, love to learn and share recipes and want to give back to the community in Douglas County.

Similar in organization and structure to the Extension Master Gardener Program, the Extension Master Food Volunteer Program allows people with an interest in cooking and nutrition to take their cooking expertise to a higher level, while developing new avenues for helping the community.

The Kansas Master Food Volunteer Program provides a foundation of knowledge to volunteers in the subject areas of food safety, food science, food preparation and food preservation.

K-State Research and Extension Food and Nutrition programs will be enhanced by involving experienced and professionally-trained volunteers at the county level.

--Below are all the details to help you get started in this exciting new opportunity:

Who Can Become an Extension Master Food Volunteer? Anyone who loves to cook, preserve food, and with an interest in food safety and food service can apply for the Master Food Volunteer Program in Douglas County. If you want to improve your cooking and canning skills and learn more about foods and you like to work with people, the Master Food program is for you.

What Will Be Required of Me? You will be required to participate in approximately 40 hours of training in Food Science, Food Preparation, Food Preservation and Food Safety. Classes are taught by County Extension professionals, K-State Extension Specialists and industry professionals. You will complete certification by contributing a minimum of 40 hours of approved service back to the community. You must be available for 40 daytime class hours and willing to travel to the training site for all classes. You must have a high school diploma or equivalent and be committed to donating at least 40 hours of approved service back to the community. Finally, you must enjoy working with adults and/or youth and willing to share your love of "food" through various food-related projects and events.

Applications are due Jan. 31, 2014 and forms are available by calling the K-State Research and Extension – Douglas County Office at 785-843-7058 or by visiting the Web site at www.douglas.ksu.edu. The cost for this program is $75, which includes notebooks, supplies, apron and a name badge.

Training will be held Wednesdays and Thursdays, February 19 & 20, 26 & 27, March 5 & 6, 12, and 13, 2014. (Snow make-up date: March 19/20) 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. held at the Johnson County Extension Office, 11811 S. Sunset Dr - Suite 1500, Olathe, Kansas and K-State Olathe.
