Presenter: Travis Dillon, Aging in Place Solutions, Certified by the National Association of Homebuilders as an Aging in Place Specialist

Travis Dillon is a native of rural Douglas County. He graduated from Baldwin High School and attended KU. Travis has worked as a carpenter for over 20 years. He worked for 11 years for Michael Nuffer Construction. After which Travis was self employed for seven years.

Travis and Michael were inspired to start “Aging in Place Solutions” after helping their own parents make modifications which allowed them to remain in their homes.

Travis’ goal is to help people with disabilities or senior citizens live safely at home.

Participants will gain an understanding of areas of concern that they need to consider when living in their home as they age.
